Storage

Business growth is a fantastic problem to have. When your business has expanded beyond the capacity of your current facilities, finding a trustworthy and cost effective company for the safe storage of your goods can be a challenge.

But what if they could take care of all of your orders too – leaving you rest assured your reputation was in safe hands and free to expand your business?

At SAE, we believe your business is our business and we take pride in providing the best service to our customers. So whether you are looking for a short, medium or long term storage, we can provide you with a bespoke solution to fit you and your business.

Steiner Outdoor was expanding, their requirements were changing and they found their business was fast outgrowing their existing facilities. They needed a company that they could trust to outsource their business, so they turned to SAE Logistics for help.

SAE offered Steiner Outdoor a complete fulfilment package from order through to safe delivery to their customers.

SAE now receive orders throughout the day via their E-warehouse stock management system.

No two orders are the same and each will typically consist of multiple items in varying quantities. Once picked and checked, the goods are carefully packed in appropriate packaging and sent onward to their destination.

SAE's management personally ensure that the skilled fulfilment team provide:

- A smooth transition to SAE
- Replication of the existing high levels of customer service
- Capacity to manage an expanding product range and increasing orders
- On-line, real-time stock management via SAE's bespoke system

"When we switched to using SAE, as with any change, we had our reservations. However we were pleasantly surprised by their professionalism and service. We now have every confidence in their service and happy to concentrate on growing our business knowing the warehouse and distribution is in good hands." Paul Steiner, CEO
